I've always had a comic book or two and even an art book stashed away somewhere on my shelves but never something that I've actually completed. So I'm really excited to get the ball rolling on this one and I'm hoping to get it all wrapped up before the end of January. I'm using an art style very similar to the one I used on my previous two books but for this book I've decided to mix it up a bit. I've always used more contrast in my images with this particular style but for this book I've gone with a lighter style with a lot of highlights. Starting this project means I have a lot of work to do in the coming months so I've settled on the goal of finishing this book by the end of this year (which, by the way, is already 4 days into the new year). I think the challenge of deadline actually makes it more enjoyable since it will get the final touches put to this book before it goes to the publisher. I'm going to be giving this project a lot of attention over the coming months as I expand this comic book into a standalone graphic novel. So watch this space for updates. In the meantime, I have a fun pinup shoot coming up (yay) on the 31st of August and if you'd like to be a part of it, send me a message at cheri.clement@bigpond.net.au. If you'd like to know more about my illustrations, you can check them out on my blog where you can also follow me on Instagram (@chericlist) and Twitter (@chericlist). This week
